On December 4, 2012 Advocate South Suburban Hospital's Leadership Development Institute was a huge success, impart because of our guest speaker Sheila Glazov. Sheila facilitated a What Color is Your Brain Workshop for our leaders that was engaging and enlightening on so many levels! The LDI was called "Remembering the Classics" a holiday theme and Sheila's commitment to the success of our event was evident by her commitment to connect to our content and our organizations mission. Sheila was a delight to work with in planning and preparing for the event and our leadership team loved her!

The WCIYB approach and book has allowed our leaders to recognize their leadership perspective in the context of interpersonal relationship, teams and organizational culture. The workshop allowed our leaders the opportunity to explore the differences in other individuals and themselves which are essential skills for leaders to be effective.

I would highly recommend WCIYB both personally and professionally; self awareness and the appreciation and recognition of other's have left a lasting impression! The best compliment that we could give Sheila is that her concepts and the awareness that she has instilled in our leaders about their own styles and the styles of others is still present in conversations and behaviors. Our investment to bring Sheila in as a keynote speaker was well worth it!
